

Founding Of Adams County Told In Court This Morning

Attorney Donald P. McPherson, Jr., president of the Adams County Bar association, this morning presented in court a paper giving details of the founding of the county as part of the observance of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the county.

Judge W. C. Sheely, noting that the court "is pleased to have the bar association make this recognition and to join with it in honoring the founders of the county," directed that the paper be made part of the records of the court.

The Bar association will hold a second celebration in June, when the 150th anniversary of the first court conducted in Adams county will be observed.

Attorney McPherson's talk follows: "In 1950 Adams county observes its sesqui-centennial anniversary, and it would seem appropriate on this day to call the attention of Your Honorable court to this historic occasion.

"On January 22, 1800, just 150 years ago yesterday, Governor McKean signed the bill creating out of York county the new County of Adams. Thus came to a successful conclusion a movement begun many years before.

Reason for New County

"Several motives combined to produce this movement. One was the desire for a more central location of the county seat. York county being irregular in shape, the county seat at York was 37 miles from the western boundary of the county and only 12 miles from the eastern boundary. This was important in those days of difficult travel. Also the Scotch-Irish of the west and the Germans and Dutch of the east were of different stock; had recently come from different countries, spoke different languages and had inharmonious training, ideas and tastes. Distance and diversity prevented fusion. The inhabitants of the west being less numerous determined to set up for themselves. Further, with the opening of roads from the Cumberland Valley through the Marsh Creek settlement to Baltimore, there was the expectation, with an independent county organization, of increasing the facilities for trading southward, thus circumventing the barrier of the unbridged Susquehanna river.

"These motives resulted in the presentation on March 20, 1789 to the Legislature of petitions from 1356 inhabitants of the western part of York county for the creation of a separate county. There was no remonstrance. The petitioners represented less than half of the 3,652 taxables within the boundaries of the proposed county. The committee reported in favor of the petition, but recommended that the question be referred to the next Assembly because of insufficient time. Under the Constitution of 1776 the last session of an Assembly limited itself, except in public exigencies, to final action on bills previously considered.

Some Remonstrance

"In the 1790 Legislature additional petitions from 460 inhabitants were presented, making the total now 1816 in favor of the formation of a new county. But 1181 inhabitants, all from the eastern end of the proposed county, remonstrated. The committee to which the petitions and remonstrances were referred, made an adverse but not hostile report that no division should be made at that time. Thomas Clingan, of Hamilton township, whose home was north of Marshall (now Virginia) Mill, the only member of the York County delegation in favor of the bill, appealed to the House and over the opposition of the other members of the delegation was successful in having the bill passed on first reading. The bill passed second reading on March 30, 1790, and was ordered printed and published for third reading. It was not pressed to a final vote because such a bill under the Constitution of 1776 could not be 'passed into' law until the second session of the Assembly. By the next session the Constitution of 1790 providing for a bicameral Legislature instead of a unicameral one had been adopted and the old Legislature on September 4, 1790, unexpectedly dissolved.

"The fight was renewed in the 1791 session. The report of the Select committee adverse to a division was affirmed by the House on February 17, 1791. Nothing was proposed in the Legislature during the winter of 1791-92. However, agitation continued and a new boundary discussed by the inhabitants included 'Hanover Town' within the boundary of the proposed new county.

County Seat Issue

"Petitions were again presented in the House on March 5, 1793. By this time the question of where the county seat would be located was overshadowing the question of the division. Capt. Alexander Cobean, 'a man of superior intelligence, of agreeable manners, and of great force of character,' owner of Plank's (later Bream's) Mill writing from Marsh Creek in 1793 to William McPherson, Esq., a member of the Legislature, says that 'the division of the county and fixing the Seat of Justice, seems now to take up

2-YEAR-OLD BOY INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

A two-year-old boy, playing with his brother near their home a quarter of a mile west of New Oxford on the Lincoln highway, was struck and seriously injured by an automobile driven by William O. Randall, 313 Third street, Hanover, at 4:45 p. m. Sunday afternoon, state police of the Gettysburg substation, who investigated the accident, reported today.

Barry Bollinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Bollinger, New Oxford R. 2, is in the Hanover hospital with a possible fracture of the face. His condition was reported as fair.

No Charges Filed

State police said Barry and his six-year-old brother, Richard, were playing near the Old Mill inn, which adjoins their home, when Barry dashed onto the road. Randall was traveling east. Police said he was forced to wait until a westbound automobile had passed before swerving in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid striking the youngster.

Emergency aid was given at the scene of the accident by Dr. Wilbur H. Miller, of New Oxford, after which the boy was taken to the hospital.

Police said Randall's sedan was traveling about 45 miles an hour before the accident. No charges were filed.

2 YOUNG MEN PLEAD GUILTY TO BURGLARY

Galen Light Putnam, 22, of Taneytown R. 2, and Donald Sylvester Rieckrode, 20, of Littlestown R. 2, signed pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Saturday afternoon, and were held for sentence court on charges of burglary. They furnished bail of $500 each for court.

The two men were caught early Saturday morning at the farm of Chester Shoemaker, Littlestown, R. 1, south of the Hoffman orphanage in Mt. Joy township. The boys were caught in the Shoemaker barn in the act of stealing pigeons, state police, who made the arrests, said.

Caught In Act

Police said Shoemaker was awakened about 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning by strange noises and saw lights in the barn. He called his son, Austin, and together they went to the barn to investigate. Austin was armed with a revolver, police said.

In the barn they found Putnam and Rieckrode with eight pigeons. Police said the pair had caught the birds and locked their wings to prevent them from flying.

Shoemaker and his son took the men to the farmhouse, and called state police. Putnam's car was found near the barn, with three chicken crates in the trunk compartment. Two of the crates contained 94 pigeons. There were three house cats in the third crate, police said, which Putnam and Rieckrode said they had picked up "along the road."

Weaver, diocesan director of Holy Name societies and pastor of St. Joseph's church, welcomed the delegates. George D. Hemler presided.

In addition to Bishop Leech and Father Weaver, the following priests were in attendance: Rev. Louis Yeager, St. Ignatius church, Buchanan Valley; Rev. Vincent Topper, St. Mary's church, Fairfield; Rev. Joseph G. Gotwalt, St. Vincent's church, Hanover; Rev. George Lavelle, St. Aloysius church, Littlestown; Rev. Grubben, St. Joseph's church, Hanover.

A nominating committee prepared a list of candidates for election at the next quarterly meeting to be held in St. Rose of Lima hall, York, on Sunday, April 2, at 2:30 o'clock. Possibilities of an annual spring banquet were discussed and plans will be announced in the near future.

Firemen's School Is Held On Sunday

Twenty members of the Gettysburg fire department, most of them drivers of fire department apparatus and "student" drivers, attended the second in a series of schools on operation of rotary and centrifugal pumps Sunday afternoon.

The instructions and tests were held at the old brickyard, near the plant of the Inductive Equipment corporation. Suction pipes from the pumps were placed in the brickyard pond, and water pumped to hose lines laid by the firemen.

SESQUI HYMN IS USED IN CHURCH

A "Sesqui-Centennial Hymn" written by the Rev. Harry Schwartz Eker, pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian church, was sung as a solo at the Sunday morning service in that church when special notice was taken of the 150th anniversary of Adams county.

The solo was by Mrs. Howard Knouse and was sung to the tune of the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." The Rev. Mr. Eker's sermon topic was "Adams County in Retrospect and Prospect."

A number of other county pastors took special notice of the Sesqui in their sermons, prayers or church bulletins. The Rev. Dr. Norman S. Wolf, pastor of the Fairfield Lutheran church, used "My Native Land" as his sermon theme and the Rev. Henry W. Sternat, Biglerville Lutheran pastor, preached on "Preserving Adams County Landmarks" in sermons at the Biglerville and Bender's Lutheran churches Sunday. In Littlestown, the Rev. John C. Brumbach, Christ Reformed pastor, preached on "Our Spiritual Heritage."

Cave-in Occurs On Farm Near Hanover

Possibly the largest of a series of cave-ins or sink-holes on farm lands near the Bethlehem Steel corporation's stone quarries north of Hanover occurred recently. The drop in the earth's surface, which followed considerable rainfall, has been measured to a depth of 94 feet. The depth of water at that point has not been determined.

The most recent cave-in, involving a surface area roughly 60 by 120 feet in dimension, took place on a farm owned by Clair G. Berkheimer, Hanover.

The cave-in has been fenced off and the area is closed to the public because of the danger of additional collapse of the soil.

In the past numerous holes have developed, their size ranging from several feet to 30 or 40 feet in diameter.

HOLD SHERIFF'S SALE

Sale of electric appliances at the store of Edward Culver, York street, by the Adams county sheriff Saturday afternoon brought a return of $616.45, somewhat less than the $702 claimed by the Ott Distributors of Harrisburg which had directed the sale. Larger articles in the store, such as refrigerators, stoves and the like, were not sold, being claimed on chattel mortgages. About 200 attended the sale.

Truman Urges Boost In Taxes On Corporations; Would Slash Some Excise Levies, Plug Holes

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—President Truman sent Congress a tax program today calling for a cut in excise on "sales" levies, plugging loopholes, and a billion-dollar boost in taxes on corporations, estates and big gifts.

In a special message, Mr. Truman did not say specifically how much reduction he thought should be made in the excise taxes. But he said cuts are "most urgently needed" in the taxes on freight, railroad and bus tickets, long distance telephone and telegraph bills and "the entire group of retail excises, including such items as toilet preparations, luggage and handbags."

While the President used no figure, some Congress members said they understood the treasury—which will give detailed recommendations to Congressional committees later—would suggest a cut from 20 to 10 per cent in the retail tax on such things as cosmetics, luggage and handbags.

Mr. Truman did specify that these taxes should be cut "only to the extent that the loss in revenue can be recouped by eliminating the tax loopholes which now permit some groups to escape their fair share of taxation."

JUDGE SHEELY SPEAKS SUNDAY AT BREAKFAST

Judge W. C. Sheely was the speaker Sunday morning at a Holy Name Society Communion Breakfast held at St. Ignatius Loyola Catholic church, Buchanan Valley.

Outlining the early struggles in the founding of the county the local jurist said "the discussion and disputes over the establishment of the county and location of the county seat is part of the American way, it was a perfect example of the way our democracy works. All parties were heard, each person was given an opportunity to express his views, then when all were heard, the final decisions were made, based on the best and most logical of the views, and on the premise that what was to be done should be to the best interests of all."

Jesuits, First Settlers

Reviewing briefly other phases of early county history, Judge Sheely said "there was one thing outstanding and very revealing about the founding of our county. The first institutions here were the home and the church. As a matter of fact, the first white men to come to the county represented the church; they were the Jesuit missionaries who came to the Conewago area to serve the Indians who had moved there from Maryland. "When the first permanent settlers arrived here, almost immediately after they had constructed their first crude homes, they began the erection of their churches."

"St. Ignatius Loyola church here in the valley came into existence shortly after the first settlers arrived. The Jesuits came here to serve the spiritual needs of the men

SAYS GARBAGE TRUCKS MEET BOROUGH CODE

Trucks used to haul garbage and refuse in Gettysburg passed the new inspection tests, recently invoked by Borough Health Officer Eugene S. Sickles, this morning, Sickles said.

Today was the deadline set forth in written notices sent to the garbage collectors a little over two weeks ago. They were directed to report with their trucks to Sickles this morning.

Among requirements for passing the inspection were that the trucks be leak-proof and covered.

The inspection took place at Sickles' place of business on South Franklin street.

Full Cooperation

"We received 100 per cent cooperation," the health officer said. "All of the garbage and refuse trucks were leak-proof and fly-tight."

Sickles provided plates to be affixed on each side of each truck, showing that they had been inspected and had paid the required license fees. The fees had been collected previously by former Burgess C. A. Heiges. Only the question of meeting borough sanitary requirements was up this morning.

Trucks owned by the following garbage collectors were inspected: John Waddell and Charles Waddell, Gettysburg R. 4, and Paul Plank and E. F. Thomas, Gettysburg R. 1.

The next "drive" will be on house-holders, to force them to comply with borough ordinances by placing their garbage in metal containers with tight tops, Sickles said.

Fairfield Driver Injured In Crash

State police said that Richard Carl Ruhe, 32, of Blue Ridge Summit, made a left turn into the path of an oncoming car driven by Ralph Hardman, 23, of Fairfield.

Ruhe was traveling behind a bus at the time and attempted to make a turn into Military road. The front ends of both cars were demolished. Ruhe was driving a 1946 sedan and Hardman a 1936 coupe.

Hardman was treated at Blue Ridge Summit for head injuries.

Ruhe paid a fine of $10 and costs when arraigned on charges of making an improper left turn.

Burgess Checks On Local Coal Supply

William G. Weaver, who, in addition to serving as Burgess of Gettysburg, is also fuel administrator, said today that a continued strike of coal miners might seriously affect users of this fuel in Gettysburg.

A survey of coal dealers in the borough, made today by Burgess Weaver, revealed that one dealer has only enough coal on hand for one day's deliveries, should a cold wave sweep this section.

Other local dealers were reputedly better off. Two who haul their supplies direct from the mines said they had experienced no difficulty in getting coal and meeting local requirements.

2 CARS STOLEN OVER WEEKEND; ONE IS WRECKED

State police said today two automobiles reported stolen Sunday had been recovered. Both were damaged, one when it went into a ditch and the other when it struck an electric power pole. The drivers of the stolen cars have not been apprehended.

Warren Davis, Mummasburg, told borough police that he parked his convertible coupe in the rear of the Farm Bureau on North Washington street at 6:30 p. m. on Sunday, and went to the Majestic theater. When he returned for the car at 8:30 p. m. it was gone.

Borough police notified the state police substation, and a three-car search was begun. The stolen car was found, after police received a tip that it had been seen at Two Taverns, in a ditch on the Two Taverns-Barlow road about a quarter of a mile from Two Taverns, shortly after 9 p. m.

It was towed to a Gettysburg garage. Police said damage was estimated at between $100 and $150.

An automobile owned by Bayard Burch, Bethesda, Md., a student at Gettysburg college, was stolen at the Lee-Meade inn late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, state police said. Burch reported the car missing shortly after midnight.

It was found on the Biglerville road about a tenth of a mile outside the borough limits a short time later. The car had crashed into an electric pole, causing damage estimated at $200 to the car and $100 to the pole.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

The following editorial was published in the January 21st edition of the York Dispatch:

GETTYSBURG INVITATION
President Truman may have had a perfectly legitimate excuse for side-stepping the invitation of Congressman Lind that the nation's chief executive be the principal speaker at Gettysburg on Memorial Day. If so he would have done well to state it frankly. In asking that the committee renew its invitation "around May 1" the president should be well aware that he creates a difficult situation.

Custom dictates that a speaker of national prominence shall deliver the Memorial Day address on the Gettysburg battlefield. The list of those who have spoken there on that day in the past includes a number of presidents. With Mr. Truman leaving the committee "up in the air" until only a month before the holiday, it is unlikely that a fit substitute can be obtained on such short notice if he declines.

This is the third year the invitation has been extended to Truman. The congressman first wrote him on January 3 to urge his acceptance. In a personal interview last Thursday the York representative received the qualified answer.

Reports emanating from Washington concerning the president's cockiness and brusque treatment of subordinates since his election, force the reluctant conclusion that this treatment of an invitation which should be regarded as a high honor by any man, may reflect this new personality.

The following letter-to-the-editor was recently published in the Philadelphia Bulletin:

SHAFFER GOES ON TRIAL HERE AS COURT OPENS

Eugene Paul Shaffer, York Springs R. 2, this morning produced the convincing proof that he was not, as alleged, driving his car on October 25.

Shaffer, facing a charge of driving his car after his operator's license was suspended, called Adams County Sheriff Dorsey J. Schultz to testify that Shaffer, on October 25, was in the Adams county jail, serving a 30-day sentence on another charge. As a matter of fact, the sheriff testified, Shaffer entered the jail on the morning of October 24.

Whether that defense would impress the jury which will begin deliberation on the question this afternoon was another matter.

Change In Dates

State Policeman David K. James and two other witnesses, W. D. Travers, and Delvin Rodgers, both of Wellsville, were recalled to the stand by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, after the sheriff had testified, to recant their testimony. Shaffer had been seen driving October 25, and substituted instead the date, October 24, about an hour prior to Shaffer's admission to jail.

Travers and Rodgers testified they saw Shaffer driving his car as he went past them while they were working near the Shaffer home. They said that Shaffer honked his horn and waved to them.

Shaffer admitted to the horn honking and waving, but said he was not driving, that a man named Stauffer, whom he has not been able to get hold of since, was driving at the time.

Eyer Case Next

The case was the first to be tried by the petit jury which began its work this morning. At least three, and possibly four, criminal cases are scheduled for disposition by the petit jury.

The second case listed, which will probably be brought before a jury this afternoon, is a fraudulent conversion charge brought by John William Eyer, Gettysburg R. 1, against Harry E. Corbaugh, also of Gettysburg R. 1. The case involves the question of what happened to Eyer's steer when it apparently wandered off the Eyer farm.

Hearing the Shaffer case today was the following jury: Murray B. Frazer, Gettysburg; Melvin G. Boyd, Gettysburg R. 3; Kenneth Byers, Littlestown; J. Franklin Corfelt, Gettysburg R. 3; Oliver Erb, Littlestown R. 1; Walter Fisel, Gettysburg R. 1; Harry Marks, Aspers; Cyrus Miller, Gettysburg R. 1; Edward H. Newman, Fairfield; Pearl Sneringer, Orrianna; Harvey S. Waiker, New Oxford, and Oscar Warehime, Littlestown R. 1.

Five members of the petit jury were excused by the court. They included Alvin Anthony, East Berlin R. 2; Robert Sell, Gettysburg R. 3; Mrs. Charlotte Sheppard, Hanover R. 1; John M. Whistler, Littlestown, and Clyde Wilson, Mummasburg.

ISS TO APPEAL CASE AFTER HE IS SENTENCED

New York, Jan. 23 (AP)—Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury and sentenced to 30 years in prison, will file an appeal immediately after he is sentenced in Federal court Wednesday.

The one-time high-ranking State department official, an adviser to President Roosevelt at the Yalta conference, faces a possible maximum sentence of ten years in prison and $4,000 in fines.

Hiss was free in $5,000 bail after a jury of eight women and four men found him guilty Saturday night after 24 hours of their deliberations.

Hiss' defense counsel, Claude Cross, said at his home in Brookline, Mass., yesterday that the appeal will be filed with the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here as soon as the sentence is imposed.

Before appealing, the defense lawyer is expected to ask the trial judge to set aside the conviction. An appeal from the Circuit Court would be to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Shocked At Verdict

The 45-year-old Hiss and his wife, Patricia, were reported to have spent the weekend at the home of friends studying the verdict of the trial.

Hiss and his wife, who testified "him, were not available to newsmen. But friends reported the defendant kept protesting his innocence and remained firm in his belief that the conviction would be reversed on appeal.

Friends said Hiss was shocked at the outcome of the trial. He told them he had been content the jury would disbelieve a story of his chief accuser, Whitaker Chambers, self-styled communist courier.

"It just seems impossible that any one would believe Chambers, the mitted perjurer," Hiss was quoted as saying.

By his verdict, the jury showed it believed Chambers' testimony that Hiss fed him U. S. government secrets for relay to Soviet spies. The verdict's case was built mostly on Chambers' accusations, and the question for the jury was to decide which man was lying—Hiss or Chambers. The latter admitted on the witness stand that he lied at times.

Outdated Espionage Charge

Hiss was convicted on two counts of perjury for lying before a Federal grand jury investigating espionage. One count was for his denial that he gave U. S. secrets to Chambers. The second count was his denial that he had seen Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937, when Chambers charged that Hiss gave him U. S. secrets in 1938.

Hiss could not be charged now with espionage because the statute of limitations bars prosecution at this late date.

Sentence will be imposed on Hiss by U. S. District Judge Henry W. Goddard, who presided at the trial.

CHURCH MARKS COUNTY SESQUI

Littlestown—"Our Spiritual Heritage" was the theme of the Sesqui-Centennial sermon by the Rev. John C. Brumbach in Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown on Sunday morning. He discussed the early history of the county and emphasized the presence of many churches for more than 50 years prior to the organization of the county.

"This spiritual heritage," he said, "enabled those early residents to worship God in his holy temple, and to feel as one family in that early colony, even though they came from various lands and worshipped under different creeds. As a result of these spiritual foundations, they were able to receive the comfort and strength they needed in sorrow and despair and also to be taught the eternal truths. We, today, are the recipients of this rich spiritual heritage, and this anniversary celebration should challenge us to pass this spiritual wealth on to those who come after us."

The pastor announced that a meeting of the King's Daughters class of the Sunday school will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Stanley R. Sell, East King street extended.

BULLETS SNARE THRILLER FROM BUCKNELL 69-65

A fighting Gettysburg college basketball team that refused to be downed upset Bucknell university, 69-65, at Lewisburg Saturday night before 1,700 wildly-cheering partisans.

The final five minutes of the game, which saw the Bullets rally after being tied by Bucknell, 58-58, were nearly as wild as the final minutes of the football game played here in November when Gettysburg won after the final gun had sounded. Saturday's game was won in regulation time.

Gettysburg was a team with a world of spirit, and it took spirit to carry the Bullets to victory. The Bisons were a better team than 10 days before when they nearly nipped the Breammen, but fell two points short, 73-71. They made over 34 per cent of their attempts from the field, which prompted Jack Guy, Bucknell coach, to inquire, "What does a team have to do to win?"

Bucknell got away to a fast start and led, 16-9, after nine minutes passed. Quick field goals by Bucky Harris, Gene Coder and Bob O'Brien narrowed it to 15-16. Connie DeLoca sank two buckets and a foul for the home club but O'Brien hit for two and Harris sank one of two fouls to make the score 21-18. Ross Sachs stole the ball from George Lavin and dribbled the length of the floor for a lay-up.

Locals Take Lead
A field goal by Joe Gallagher and free throw by Roger Rogers were countered by two foul tosses by Coder and a tap-in by O'Brien to tie the count 24-24 with four and one-half minutes to go. The teams traded points and with 40 seconds of the half remaining the score was tied, 31-31. Two quick field goals by John Clark and Harris gave the Bullets a 35-31 halftime edge.

Gettysburg lengthened its lead to nine points within five minutes of the second half, 48-39. Don Strasser, Bison center, put on as sensational a one-man show as the Bullets have come up against this year when he scored 14 consecutive points while the Breammen scored four, to give the home team the lead, 53-52. Harris dropped two buckets, O'Brien one, while Rogers and Gallagher looped two field goals to give the visitors a 58-57 lead. A foul by Strasser tied the score at 58-all.

Two field goals and two fouls by Harris and a set shot by Ketterman as against Gallagher's set shot gave Gettysburg a 66-60 lead with three minutes to go. Lavin and Strasser scored from the field but Harris netted one of two charity tosses to make the count 67-64 with 1:20 remaining.

Strasser missed a foul but Rogers converted with 13 seconds left. Sachs took the ball off the boards on the next Bison field goal attempt, and the Bullets worked the weave until Ketterman was all alone under the basket and sank a peep. The game was over before Bucknell could pass center court.

All Play Well
Coder, who played the best game of his varsity career, converted seven fouls in a like number of attempts, and four field goals. Harris, who was closely guarded, netted 21 points for the Bullets. O'Brien gave one of his finest performances and netted several field goals on tap-ins. Both Harris and O'Brien were withdrawn from action for about ten minutes of the second half when each incurred his fourth personal foul. Pure wouldn't be denied on the boards and Sachs contributed a fine defensive game. Sophomores Bruce Mahon, Ketterman and Clark all showed a lot of scrap and were capable replacements.

Next Saturday the Bullets clash with the University of Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh, tickets for which may be secured at the college athletic office.

LEO HOUCK RITES ON WEDNESDAY

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 23 (P)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Leo F. Houck, Penn State's boxing coach, who died at his home in Lancaster Saturday. He was 61.

Houck, who was one of the nation's best-known boxing coaches, had been confined to his home since last fall following an operation August 22, for cancer. He had been at Penn State as the Nittany Lions' boxing mentor for 27 years.

Houck, who was born in Lancaster, fought his first ring engagement there at the age of 14. It was a four-round draw for which young Houck received a pair of boxing gloves and a new silver dollar.

Before he fought his last professional bout in 1923, Houck took on 12 world champions, including Gene Tunney. He claimed he won more than 85 per cent of his bouts and was never badly beaten nor knocked out.

Following the funeral services on Wednesday morning, requiem high mass will be sung at 10 a. m. in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church. Survivors include his widow, three daughters and four sons.

Southern Penn League Records

Only one set of four games remain in the first-half race of the 1950 Southern Pennsylvania conference, a season which will go down in history as the year that the teams were so evenly divided that the home floor advantage was all that was necessary in most instances to provide a victory. In 24 games to date, only six have been won by visiting teams.

The Chambersburg High School Trojans, winners of the loop diadem for the past six years, are at the present time on top of the heap in the matters of wins and losses, team offensive and team defensive, needs a victory to clinch the first-half title. Waynesboro, Gettysburg and Shippensburg are in the running if the Trojans falter, and the league race could end in a four-way tie.

The Trojans have the advantage of the home floor against Gettysburg, while Shippensburg and Waynesboro will be out to please the home fans with victories over Carlisle and Hershey, respectively. The game at Hanover—between Mechanicsburg and Hanover—will not figure in the first-half race.

Kenny Deardorff, forward from Gettysburg, retained the individual scoring lead for the second straight week but his margin was cut slightly. He has tallied 89 points, 14 more than his nearest rivals—Grider, of Hershey, and Bogar, of Carlisle.

The junior varsity race, just as close as the varsity division, will be decided in one game—Hershey at Waynesboro—since those two teams are tied for first place.

GHS, TROJANS IN KEY LEAGUE TILT TUESDAY

The big game in the South Penn league Tuesday evening as the first half is included will be the Gettysburg-Chambersburg tilt on the Trojans' court.

Currently pacing the league in quest of their seventh consecutive title, the Trojans can clinch the first half honors by defeating the Warriors.

However, a lot of other complications could arise if the Warriors would upset the Trojans through a win. That would create a deadlock between those teams and would open the way for Shippensburg and Waynesboro to set up a four-way deadlock through victories on Tuesday.

Defeating the Chambersburg team in its own back yard is quite a task as records reveal they are almost unbeatable there. However, Coach George Forney and his outfit are primed to shoot the works in trying for victory. Chambersburg, favored to cop its seventh loop title in a row, has been finding opposition a little keener this year which presages a hot second half race.

Also carded for Tuesday night are the following loop games: Hershey at Waynesboro, Carlisle at Shippensburg, and Mechanicsburg at Hanover.

G-BURG MATMEN HAND BUCKNELL INITIAL LOSS

Gettysburg college's strong wrestling team knocked Bucknell from the unbeaten ranks here Saturday evening when the Bullets triumphed 24-6 before a large crowd.

Coach Cole's outfit, in winning their fifth match as against but one reverse, captured six of the eight bouts.

Russ Riegel, unbeaten in collegiate wrestling, won his 35th consecutive bout for the Bullets by winning an 8-1 decision over Robinson in the 155-pound event.

The most dramatic win of the evening was gained by Sam Andrews, 128, who pinned Fusia in 29 seconds of the second period after severely twisting his neck in the opening period.

Other wins were scored by Gettysburg by Jimmy Loose, 121, and Lonce Soult, 165, by falls, and Bud Diehl, 175, and Bob Hersberger, heavyweight, via decisions. Diehl is unbeaten this year.

The Bullets will now be idle due to examinations until Saturday, February 4, when Temple will be met at Philadelphia.

EXPECT CARDS TO BE NEAR TOP OF LOOP AGAIN

By JOE REICHLER
New York, Jan. 23 (P)—Each spring since 1941 the St. Louis Cardinals have been tabbed as the team to beat for the National league pennant. During those nine hectic years, the Redbirds either won the flag or finished second.

The 1950 season should prove no exception—the good doctors willing. The medical profession is referred to because of the poor physical condition of a block of Redbirds at the close of the '49 season.

Had Manager Eddie Dyer wished to make excuses for his team's late September flop, he could have cited the following clinic cases: Third Baseman Eddie Kazak out with a chipped ankle; First Baseman Nippy Jones out with a serious back injury; Second Baseman Red Schoendienst out with a broken finger; Outfielders Stan Musial and Chuck Diering hampered by a pulled muscle and sprained ankle, respectively, and Shortstop Marty Marion bothered by a back ailment.

Most On Recovery List
Latest hospital reports had practically all the patients on the recovery list. However, only time will tell whether Jones has recovered completely from his back operation. Or whether Kazak's ankle, which kept him out for half the season, is sound again, and what about Marion's chronic aching back? Will he be able to play a majority of the games?

If that isn't enough to worry about, Dyer was given added concern with the news that Ted Wilks, premier relief pitcher in the league, had come up with a spur on his right heel. The stocky righthander is taking heat treatments to dissolve the growth.

Fortunately, the Cards are bringing up a block of promising youngsters, several of whom may step in and fill the breach, if needed.

First we have Steve Bilko, a long ball hitting first baseman up from Rochester where he hit 310, drove in 125 runs and slammed 34 home runs.

Russ Derry and Bill Howerton, a couple of outfielders, will bear watching. Derry, a 30-year-old veteran who had been up with the Yankees and Athletics, slammed 44 home runs last year to lead the International league. He drove in 122 runs. Howerton, up from Columbus, had a .329 average when he was recalled to help the Cards in their stretch drive.

Another outfielder, by no means a newcomer to the Cards, will vie for the centerfield position. He is Harry Walker, acquired from Cincinnati in a winter trade that sent Ron Northey and Lou Klein to the Reds.

Old Friend, New Position
Heading a list of seven new pitchers is another old friend, Ery Dusak, who spent several years with the Cards as an outfielder. Returned to Rochester last spring, Dusak decided to switch to the mound. In his first season, the righthander finished with an 11-8 mark including a one-hitter against Buffalo.

Accompanying Dusak from Rochester are Cloyd Boyer, Jim Hearn, Tom Poholsky and Johnny Yuhas. Boyer registered 15 victories. A fast ball pitcher, Boyer struck out 239 batters in 1947, 188 in '48 and 143 last year. He was fifth in the league in earned runs. Hearn won eight and lost three after the Cards sent him down in July. Poholsky, a 200-pounder with a good fast ball, turned in 14 victories and Yuhas' record was 6-9.

Freak lightning has been known to tear stone pieces from buildings and hurl them many city blocks away.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
ON SHAKING HANDS

I have no idea as to how shaking hands between people originated, but I greatly prefer it to the French cheek kissing act. There is something cordial, inviting, and intimately genuine about shaking hands. Not only as a greeting, but as an evidence of faith and good comradeship.

An instance is recalled of the meeting of Bob Davis and Arnold Bennett in New York city at a luncheon. They were discussing books and people. Suddenly one of them remarked that he considered the book "The Way Of All Flesh" by Samuel Butler, to be the greatest book written in a hundred years. Both stood up and shook hands!

We learn a great deal about one from their handshake. Leigh Hunt, in one of his essays, described the handshake of William Hazlitt as follows: "His fingers, half coming out and half retreating, seemed to think that you were going to do them a mischief; and when you got hold of them, the whole shake was on your side." We have all met such handshakes. I have one in mind, that of a noted philosopher. When you take his hand it feels as though you held a cold fish there. I have never highly regarded his philosophy!

I believe that everyone likes the hearty, sincere, and good-will sort of handshake. Confidence in that one is immediately established. I like to sit in a man's club and note the handshake of members as they come in. The suggestion of friendly feeling and whole-heartedness is inspiring to me. You can always detect the unwilling handshake.

In a boxing contest the rules demand that the contestants shake hands at the beginning and at the end as evidence of good sportsmanship. And after many a discussion, especially where there has been some bitterness, a suggestion is made that the parties shake hands that there may be no lingering bad feeling.

Would that there might be an honest, genuine handshake across the seas, and between nations as evidence, sealing a compact for endless peace and good will, and an end to war, bitterness and hatred between all peoples! That would be a handshake that all would welcome and that God would bless.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Dare and Imagine"

MAN MANAGEMENT

Said mother to daughter: "Now heed what I say:

To manage a husband I'll tell you the way.

I've managed your father for thirty years long

By saying, 'You're right!' though I knew he was wrong.

"If you nag at your husband you'll drive him away.

But flatter him often, and close by he'll stay.

No matter how foolish you think him to be,

He likes to be told that a wise man he is.

"A man must be pampered. His headaches are bad.

A pain so intense no one else ever had.

Although you may think it, don't say when he moans:

'Women suffer worse pain without so many groans.'

"Remember your father, his habits and ways.

Deal lightly with scolding, but but thickly with praise.

To manage a husband at times you deceive.

So wonderful call him, for that he'll believe."

CORNERSTONE IS LAID SATURDAY AT KINGSDALE

Alton E. Bowers, secretary of the Kingsdale Volunteer Fire company, and teacher of the Oak Grove school, Germany township, was the speaker at the laying of the cornerstone of the new fire hall Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. His topic was "What Lay We in This Stone?" In his address he emphasized "faith, unity, security, protection and fellowship." In closing he referred to Lincoln's Gettysburg Address when he said: "that we should highly resolve that our work be not in vain."

The land for the fire hall was donated by Walter F. Crouse, and is along the Taneytown-Littlestown road near the Kingsdale intersection. Mr. Crouse, who is president of the company, was master of ceremonies. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Norman Utz, chaplain. The brass tube placed under the cornerstone contained the names of the Ladies' Auxiliary as well as the members of the company. President Walter F. Crouse placed in this tube copies of The Gettysburg Times, The Evening Sun, an Indian arrowhead, a piece of money 140 years old and a piece of money dated 1902.

Building Committee
Chaplain Utz placed three arrowheads in the tube, as well as the names of the building committee and the head mason, and also a copy of the 15th chapter of First Corinthians from the Bible. The building committee was composed of Alton E. Bowers, Rev. Norman Utz and Calude Gerrick and the head mason was Ellwood Albin.

In addition to the invocation and address, this program included a saxophone solo by Edgar Wolfe. While President Crouse set the stone, the group sang "America." More than 100 were present for the ceremonies.

The January meeting of the Littlestown borough council will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the office of the secretary, Roger J. Keefer, North Queen street. The budget prepared by the finance committee will be presented at this meeting.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, VFW, will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the post home, West King street.

MURDERER MAY PLEAD INSANITY

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 23 (AP) — The confessed student slayer of an attractive Franklin and Marshall college stenographer might plead insanity at his murder trial, his lawyer hints.

Edward Lester Gibbs, 25-year-old F & M senior, confessed Wednesday to the strangling of Marian Louise Baker January 10 after taking her on a ride to a secluded "petters" hangout.

Gibbs' attorney, W. Hensel Brown — himself an F & M alumnus — indicated that "there is a possibility I may bring in a psychiatrist later."

Brown, who reportedly never lost a client to the electric chair, said it was too early yet to know what Gibbs' defense would be.

The Pitman, N. J., ex-GI, who lived with his wife in a one-room apartment on the F & M campus, said in a signed statement that he killed Miss Baker "on an impulse."

Gibbs met the 21-year-old stenographer while she was mailing a letter for the college.

Gibbs will be officially arraigned within a week or 10 days. He's expected to go on trial shortly after March 13.

Brown, appointed on Friday to represent Gibbs, advised authorities that he would object strenuously to examination of his client by a state psychiatrist.

"I don't want him talked to by anyone without first being informed," Brown said, "and I don't want him examined by a psychiatrist."

Long Harvest Of Flowers Gained By An Early Start

Snapdragons (left), asters (top right) and petunias (bottom right) should all be started under protection for a long harvest of flowers.

Borders and beds of annual flowers in full bloom are often seen in parks and estate gardens weeks earlier than it is possible to produce flowers from seed sown direct in the garden.

This is made possible by starting the annuals in the greenhouse and moving them to the garden as soon as the peak display of the early bulbs and perennials has ended.

While few amateurs have facilities for starting all their annual flowers under protection, anyone with a south window, a cold frame or a hotbed can give this early start to the slow growing varieties, which need it most. And those which mature more quickly, can be grown in outdoor seed boxes, or sown direct in the garden where they are to grow.

Asters, petunias and snapdragons especially need an early start, because they are slow to germinate and mature. In setting out plants rather than sowing seed direct there is another advantage which lies in the placing of plants. Since flowers are usually planted in borders rather than in rows, and often must be placed between established perennial plants, it is not easy to be sure of growing plants from seed in exactly the desired location. Another advantage is that thinning out plants becomes unnecessary, and seed thus goes much farther.

Many flowers have very small seed, which must not be covered deeply, lest growth be prevented; sometimes indeed the seed is just pressed into the soil, from which it may be washed by heavy rains or careless watering. It is important that all flower seed be sown in loose soil, rich in humus, which will not become too compact, or form a crust which might prevent the seedlings from emerging. Many garden soils do not answer these specifications, but it is usually easy to find enough of the best type of soil to fill a few seed boxes, in which seeds may be sown with assurance that they will germinate and grow well.

Because of this, gardeners often sow all flower seeds in this way, even outdoors, and move the plants when ready to locations where they are desired. Seed boxes are easier to manage outdoors than under protection, and growth is more rapid than in the garden, for plants in a seed box which can be shaded when desirable, and watered frequently, are kept constantly moist by automatic watering.

Lehigh Tuition To Be Increased

Bethlehem, Pa., Jan. 23 (AP) — Beginning this fall undergraduate tuition at Lehigh university will go up.

John I. Kirkpatrick, secretary of the board of trustees, said Saturday the tuition increase is necessary to offset a curtailed educational program and a deficit.

The increase will range from $75 a year in the colleges of arts and science and business administration to $100 in the college of engineering. This amounts to annual tuition of $700 for engineering students and $625 for those in the arts and science and business curricula.

WAIT FOR STATE

Harrisburg, Jan. 23 (AP) — You World War II veterans who filed for your state bonus and later remembered your application was incomplete should wait until you hear from the Commonwealth before doing anything else. The advice came today from State Adjutant General Frank A. Weber who announced the state Bonus Bureau will inform any veteran of oversights in also failing to submit discharge papers or similar discrepancies.

PENDING GARDEN TASKS

Success in vegetable gardening depends in no minor degree on getting ready before each task arrives and then performing it promptly on time. In every phase of this work the calendar dominates the scene—the vital factor of proper dates. Here are a few suggestions on tasks which must be met within the next few weeks:

Order several seed and nursery catalogues at once. These handy little publications are indispensable for gardening progress. Advertisements of concerns offering free catalogues appear in many magazines.

In harmony with this first suggestion is the matter of placing orders for seed and planting stock before the spring rush arrives. Not only does the early buyer avoid delays and disappointments attendant on put-it-offishness, but he obtains the better grade seed and plants in the earlier filled orders.

Hotbed and coldframe space is a "must" in starting vegetables early. These should be built before the last of January so such extra early crops as cabbage, celery, broccoli, and similar hardy vegetables may be started in early February. The gardener who, for lack of coldframes and hotbeds, must wait until spring weather permits outdoor planting always brings up the tail-end of the gardening procession.

Fertilizer, insecticide, and fungicide requirements should be computed now and orders placed with local dealers. Every person connected with these industries, from the manufacturer down to the railway clerk, appreciates thoughtful early ordering. And of course, the gardener gains undeniable benefits in assured supplies and frequently the savings from later price rises.

Sweet corn ear worms spend the winter about 8 to 9 inches deep in soils where they dropped from the ears in late summer. If all corn soils are spaded or plowed deeply in late winter or early spring, most of these pests will be exterminated and vast numbers of potential worms prevented by killing the few overwintering parent forms.

One of the best methods of gaining insurance against possible droughts is to incorporate plenty of organic matter in the soil to hold moisture. The gardener in late winter should be adding steadily to his compost heap. It is often amazing how much valuable vegetable litter can be accumulated before plant growth resumes. And materials not needed for compost can be later used profitably for mulching purposes.

Time is passing rapidly for cooperative buying of potato seed—northern certified seed, of course.

And the cooperative thought can be further applied to neighborhood buying of a power sprayer for use on potatoes, fruit trees, shade trees, and other crops and plants needing protection from equipment too costly for the individual to afford.

Plan the vegetable garden on paper, including careful rotation schemes to avoid soil-borne diseases. Sterilized soil for hotbeds, coldframes, and all plant pots and seed flats pays big dividends in reduced diseases tolls. All readers who do not know how to sterilize soil are invited to write the editor for simple directions.

Asparagus and rhubarb roots for early planting should be ordered at once for March delivery.

THE NEW LOW-COST TWO-PLOW "VAC" CASE TRACTOR

Tractors equipped with a new 3-point hitch and hydraulic implement control have been put on display. With this new "Eagle Hitch," a plow or any one of a variety of rear-mounted "latch-on" implements can be hitched or unhitched in a minute or so, with no need for the driver to get off the tractor seat.

The new hydraulic control is "practically fool-proof," since it is not subject to air locks and is entirely independent of clutch and power take-off. Mounted on the engine, the self-priming pump operates whenever the engine is running. Implements may be raised and lowered regardless of whether the tractor is traveling or standing in gear or out. The hydraulic fluid supply is never a problem, because the unit uses ordinary motor oil.

A single control lever near the driver's right hand raises and lowers any "latch-on" implement. The design of the "Eagle Hitch" itself keeps the implement working at uniform depth in spite of rough ground or hard or soft spots in the field. A short movement of the control lever will change implement settings to meet unusual field conditions without stopping or slowing the tractor. A handy turnbuckle sets plow depth for normal operation.

The low-cost two-plow "VAC" Case tractors now carry the new hitch and hydraulic control as regular equipment. We also will have plows and other "latch-on" implements of types used in this area.

NEW PENN STATE PRESIDENT IS M.S. EISENHOWER

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 23 (AP)—Milton Stover Eisenhower, long a career government official and since 1943 president of Kansas State college, is to be the new president of Pennsylvania State college.

The 51-year-old educator is a brother of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, wartime supreme allied commander in Europe.

Penn State's board of trustees met here Saturday and elected Eisenhower unanimously. The Penn State president's post has been vacant since Dr. Ralph Dorn Hetsel died in 1947.

James Milholland, Pittsburgh attorney and a member of the Penn State board of trustees served as acting president. He said Eisenhower's appointment becomes effective "on or about July 1." Dwight Eisenhower is president of Columbia university in New York city.

At Manhattan, Kans., Eisenhower confirmed the appointment, but declined to disclose salary arrangements.

At Kansas State he receives $10,000 annually, in addition to a furnished home on the campus and some expenses. It was reported here that Penn State will pay him $29,000 a year.

Eisenhower served the United States government for 19 years. He joined the Department of Agriculture as an assistant to Secretary William Jardine in 1926. He remained in the Agriculture Department 14 years. During the war he headed the war relocation authority, and served as associate director of the office of war information.

Find Thousands Of Relief Chiselers

Harrisburg, Jan. 23 (AP)—Thousands of chiselers are found each year by relief investigators, the Department of Public Assistance reported today.

On the basis of about 1,000,000 interviews last year, 93,700 cases were removed from relief rolls, changes were made in grants involving 202,000 cases and 132,000 new cases were taken on.

The figures came from Frank A. Robbins, Jr., Public Assistance secretary, following a joint statement by Robbins and Auditor General Weldon B. Heburn promising a further crackdown on relief chiseling, particularly in Philadelphia.

"Every effort will be made to discover chiselers and remove them from the rolls," the statement said. At the same time, the two promised no "persecution" of those who are really in need.

CAN APPEAL ON BONUS

Harrisburg, Jan. 23 (AP)—If you're not satisfied with the amount of your Pennsylvania veterans' bonus check, you can appeal for a review of your case. That word came today from State Adjutant General Frank A. Weber, who is in charge of the $500,000,000 bonus payment program. Written evidence supporting the claim must be made to the state veterans bonus bureau here, Weber said. If that is refused a hearing may then be requested. The payments are scheduled to begin in mid-March.

SEEK NEW CONDUCTOR

The governor joined civic and business leaders in dedicating the new $9,000,000 mill of the Alan Wood Steel company. The mill, erected on a seven-acre tract, is expected to turn out 218,000 tons of roll steel products a year.

ACQUIT TUCKER, 7 ASSOCIATES OF MAIL FRAUD

Chicago, Jan. 23 (AP)—The dapper former head of the bankrupt Tucker Corporation and seven associates in a $28,000,000 venture to mass produce a rear-engine automobile were found innocent yesterday of government charges of fraud.

A Federal Court jury returned the verdict for Preston T. Tucker and the other defendants on charges of mail fraud, conspiracy, and violation of federal securities regulations in promoting manufacture and sale of the car.

The jury which heard the government's 73 witnesses in the three-months trial reached its verdict on the fourth ballot after 17 hours of deliberation.

The case had gone to the jury at 10:55 a. m. Saturday without any of the defendants or witnesses in their behalf offering testimony. Defense attorneys contended simply that the government had not proved any of the charges in its 31-count indictments.

Into Bankruptcy Last Year

Tucker, 46, was president, and board chairman of the corporation from the time he launched it in 1947 until it sank into bankruptcy last March. Other defendants acquitted were Fred Rockelmann, 63, executive vice president; Robert Pierce, 50, treasurer; Mitchell W. Dulan, 55, recently attended the Grange conference at College Park, Md.

sales manager; Otis Radford, 45, a former treasurer; Floyd D. Cerf, 60, underwriter of a $17,500,000 stock issue; Harold A. Karsten, 58, an assistant in the early promotion, and Cliff Knoble, 59, advertising manager.

Throughout the trial, the government contended the venture was a mammoth confidence game conspiracy and it introduced more than 1,000 exhibits intended to support the charge.

Prosecutors mentioned that the corporation produced less than 50 cars, all of them hand-built and lacking many features advertised as sensational improvements in automotive engineering. Among the advertised features, the company claimed a hydraulic torque converter, air-cooled disc brakes, and an air-cooled engine embodying a revolutionary fuel injection principle.

The government described the advertising as "a pack of lies."

Offers To Re-organize

The defense argued, however, that the goal of high-speed assembly line production was not attained because of a series of government investigations which hampered progress. There were hints that some of the investigations, at least, were inspired by the established automobile industry because it feared Tucker competition.

There might have been some mismanagement, too, the defense contended, but of fraud and criminal intent there was none.

Tucker called the verdict a "victory for the stockholders and dealers of the corporation as well as for free enterprise." He said he would be glad to "cooperate in every way I can in reorganization plans."

The corporation's affairs are in the hands of trustees who have not yet reported whether a reorganization is advisable.

Bet You Don't Know This About Advertising

by Susan

Quiz No. 12

How much does it cost to advertise a 5¢ candy bar? 1¢? 2¢ a bar?

Answer:

It costs less than 1¢ per bar to advertise America's favorite candy.

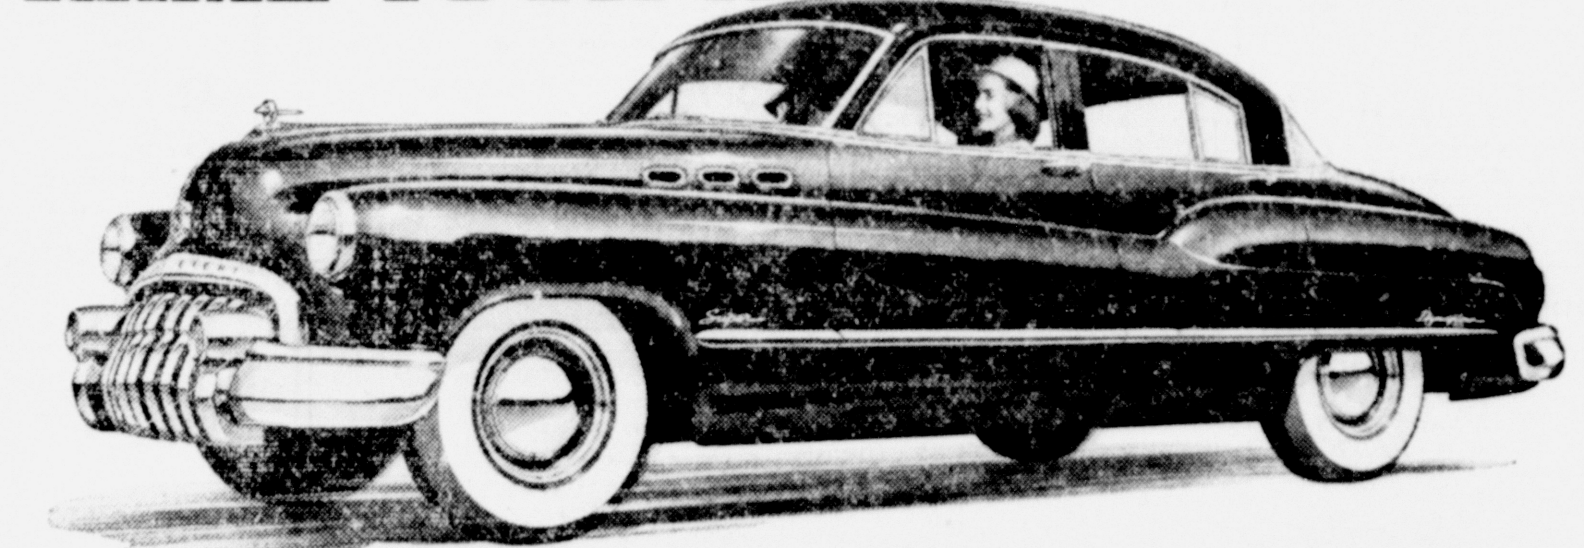

That's only half the story. Advertising lowers your cost two ways:

Cuts the selling costs. And by helping make mass production possible, lowers the production costs, too.

So advertising saves you many times the cost of that 1¢ per bar.

Founding Of

the attention of most people in our part of this county? Captain Cobean favored Gettysburg as the county seat. Moses McGlean, a conspicuous citizen of the county residing in Carroll's Delight, was very active in support of the division. Many meetings had been held in the county. Garrett Van Arsdale offered to sell some land for the county seat. William Sturgeon offered most of his 200 acre tract on the west side of Little Conewago Creek in Mount Pleasant township as a 'convenient situation for the seat of justice.' In 1800 Sturgeon owned a hotel in Mount Pleasant township and about that date built the 'Indian Queen hotel' in New Oxford and in 1801 the 'Indian Queen hotel' was designated as a place for holding elections. Later the 'Low Dutch Meeting House' near the forks of the road was suggested as the county seat.

"The old petitions presented in 1793 asked the Legislature to fix the county seat, but expressed no preference; the new petitions expressed the preference for William Sturgeon's land in Mount Pleasant township on the west side of Little Conewago, opposite the bridge, as has been settled by deputies from the included townships and asked the Legislature to ratify this preference. The townships around and east of Hanover furnished 996 new remonstrances and it was suggested that if Cumberland, Franklin and Hamilton townships thought they were too far from the county seat they had the right to ask to be annexed to Franklin county. With such a mixed condition of affairs the committee of the House reported that a division of the county was not then advisable.

Many Favor Division
"The new county question was not pressed in the Legislatures of 1795, 1796 and 1797. Apparently the county seat question divided at home the friends of the new county movement. In the 1798 session 1974 petitioners were for a division, 1418 in favor of the 'lower line' east of Hanover and 226 in favor of the 'upper line' being approximately the line finally agreed upon. Sixteen hundred remonstrators were against division. The Select committee reported the bill favorably with the eastern line of the proposed new county being the one ultimately agreed upon. No vote on the bill was taken in that session and the bill went over to the 1799 Legislature.

"In the session of 1799, the Select committee reported the bill with the same line with the county seat vacant.

New Suggestion
"Then on February 2, 1799, the 'citizens of Gettysburg' appeared for the first time formally on the scene. They submitted the proposition that if the County of York should be divided and if Gettysburg were named as the county seat there would be executed, (1) a conveyance of the ground-rents on the town lots, in trust for the benefit of the new county; also a convenient lot of ground for a jail and (2) a bond, executed by nine sufficient freeholders, securing the payment of seven thousand dollars, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the public buildings.

"The committee of the whole

named Gettysburg as county seat.

On second reading the bill was amended by striking out Gettysburg as the county seat and inserting the words 'at the Low Dutch Meeting House near the forks of the road.' This location was five miles east of Gettysburg on the road to York and near the intersection of the Black's Gap (or Hunterstown) road. It was a less convenient site than Gettysburg, because less accessible by roads, but was less identified with personal ambitions and interests than Gettysburg or Hunterstown. In this form the bill passed the House February 14, 1799. In the Senate the bill met the opposition of York county's veteran Senator James Ewing, who had been a private in the French and Indian War of 1755, a lieutenant in the Forbes Expedition of 1758, a brigadier general in the Revolutionary War and a vice president of the council under the first Constitution of the State.

10 Other Locations
"Alexander Russell, Esq., agent for Gettysburg, at once made a representation to the Senate on the county seat question. Ten other locations had combined against Gettysburg. With Gettysburg out of the way, the ten would be as much opposed to each other as they were united against Gettysburg. He called attention to the more important advantages of Gettysburg, such as centrality, healthy and pleasant situation, soil, produce, water, materials for building, etc., and expressed the opinion that upon a fair experiment Gettysburg would have more advocates than any other individual spot proposed. Senator Ewing proposed an amendment to move the line west of the present line. The bill without a vote on lines was postponed until the next session by a vote of 12 to 11.

"The advocates of a division of the county were in a strong position, but Gettysburg was in the background. "On December 14, 1799, the Select Committee reported the bill. It contained General Ewing's division line, but said that courts of the new county should be 'at the town of Gettysburg.' The division line as reported by the committee was badly defeated in the Senate, only three votes in favor of it.

"At the last moment an amendment was proposed which made Gettysburg the county seat 'until a permanent situation for the public buildings be determined on.' This was defeated by a tie vote. The final division line in the Senate bill was substantially the same as that adopted by the House, so only a verbal amendment was made to which there was no objection.

Adams Is Smaller
"York County was not divided equally. Adams County is smaller in territory. The population of Adams County in 1800 was 13,171 and the population of York County after division was 25,663.

There seemed to be disappointment that the actual line was not farther east but the consensus of opinion expressed in a public meeting was that: We are also confident of opinion that, should we obtain this small division now, so soon as our public buildings are erected, and the people are able to see, without prejudice, the advantages of fixing the seat of Justice here, the case and convenience of getting their business done in the New County, and the perpetual fund, etc.—not only the People of Berwick and onwards toward the mountain now excluded, but Hanover itself, will pray to be annexed to the new County.

"As we have said the bill was signed by the Governor on January 22, 1800.

"It is interesting to read the names of those signing the bond for Seven Thousand Dollars for the erection of the public buildings. They were: Messrs. Henry Hoke, James Scott, William McClellan, George Kerr, William McPherson, Alexander Cobean, Alexander Irvine, Alexander Russell, Walter Smith, William Hamilton, John Myer, Emmanuel Ziegler and Samuel Sloan.

"The bill itself is rather interesting. The new county was declared to be a part of the second judicial district. This district included in 1800 the other counties of Cumberland, Dauphin, Delaware, Lancaster and York. Section 7 authorized the county commissioners, who would be elected at the next annual election, to accept a lot of ground for the purpose of erecting a Court House, Jail and offices for the safe keeping of the records; provided that the lot were in the town of Gettysburg, and authorized the commissioners to appropriate a sum not exceeding Three Thousand Dollars towards the erection of these buildings. By Section 12 the Reverend Alexander Dobbin and David Moore, Sr., were the appointed trustees for the County of Adams to collect the Seven Thousand Dollars pledged by the bond for the erection of the public buildings in Gettysburg. After the division Adams County was given two representatives in the Legislature and York County had four.

"Section 11 provided: 'That the first court to be held in and for the county of Adams, shall be opened and held on the second Monday in June next.'

"And so in our busy life of today we pause briefly to honor those who came before us. Yet no matter what we say or do, we cannot express our full appreciation nor do full honor to those gallant men who gave us our heritage of local government. It is a precious heritage. May we today hold high the example they so courageously set.

"As a further token of our appreciation, it is my pleasant duty on behalf of the Adams County Bar Association to make the motion that this paper be made an official record of this Honorable Court."

The information and the quotations about the creation of Adams County were obtained from an address entitled "The Story of the Creation of Adams County, Pennsylvania and of the Selection of Gettysburg as its Seat of Justice" delivered by the Honorable Edward McPherson before the Historical Society of Adams County, on its First Anniversary, May 6, 1889.

Duff Reports On 'Years Of Progress'

Harrisburg, Jan. 23 (AP)—The past three years have been years of progress in Pennsylvania, says Gov. James H. Duff.

"We have carried forward the greatest construction program in Pennsylvania," the chief executive said in a radio broadcast over the week-end. It marked the third anniversary of his inauguration. "The flag of Pennsylvania never flew higher than it does today," Duff said.

The governor's report to Pennsylvanians covered a host of subjects, ranging from stream clearance and highways to mental hospital expansion and agriculture.

"These three years have not been years of pictures and plans and promises," he said, "but years of real progress and of action and conspicuous and unprecedented accomplishment."

It is interesting to read the names of those signing the bond for Seven Thousand Dollars for the erection of the public buildings. They were: Messrs. ## GOP LEADERS TO MEET SATURDAY

Harrisburg, Jan. 23 (AP)—Pennsylvania's slam-bang Republican fight for party control reaches the nose-counting stage of county leaders this week.

Forces backing Gov. James H. Duff for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator have invited county leaders from the 67 counties to a showdown meeting at nearby Hershey on Saturday.

State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, who is lined up with Duff, implied those county leaders who failed to show up would be counted in the opposing camp, centered around former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

The Hershey conference, in addition to trying to solidify sentiment behind Duff's candidacy, also is expected to go into the question of running mates on the executive ticket, especially a candidate to succeed him as governor.

All three avowed candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, former Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., and Jay Cooke, both of Philadelphia, and Judge Harold L. Ervin, of Delaware county, have pledged continuation of phases of Duff's program.

But John S. Pine, of the state Superior Court, is regarded as having the inside track in Duff's favor for the gubernatorial nomination, if county leaders will agree on him. State Senator Lloyd H. Wood, Montgomery county, has been named as a possible second Duff choice. Other potential or receptive candidates for governor include Lt. Gov. Daniel B. Strickler, regarded as first choice by the Grundy people, with Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn and

East Berlin

East Berlin—The local chapter, Future Farmers of America, directed by Herbert L. Heberlein, have placed in the window of Cashman's Hardware store the educational exhibit which they made and for which they were honored at the State Fair show this month. The exhibit, dealing with dairy farming, has as its central figure a large cow, made of plywood, and a farmer of the same material holding a real cow clipper, while a revolving spool, power driven, lists the advantages of cow clipping. There are also a group of photographs illustrating modern dairy work. Above the exhibit, the boys hang the PFA banner.

TRUMAN WINS HOUSE FIGHT

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP)—Administration leaders saw little prospect today of smooth sailing for the Truman program, despite the smarting defeat they handed a GOP-Lixie coalition trying to take Hartford, Conn., has been a visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, and family. Mrs. John Moyer, near here, has returned from Wilmington, Del., where she went to be with her sister, Mrs. Mary Viands, whose son, Norman H. Viands, 18, was killed January 13 at Ft. Benning, Ga., where an Air Force glider crashed. The young man, an army private, was interred in the National cemetery, Arlington, Va.

Kathleen Wrights Brown, Hanover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Wrights, is doing satisfactorily after a recent operation at the Hanover hospital where she remains a patient.

Norman Auchey, R. 2, has begun preparations for a public sale at his farm within a few weeks.

Harold R. Shetter, physical education instructor at Trinity college, control of the House.

Much credit for their 236 to 183 triumph on Friday, they said, must go to the civil rights issue which cost the coalition a large chunk of republican votes.

They got little comfort from a Republican hint that a new effort to change the house rules may be made later.

The test was on a coalition-backed move to give the Rules Committee virtual life-and-death control over major legislation. The committee is dominated by Republican and southern members.

The debate that preceded the showdown left no doubt that the president's program was a major issue. Leaders of both sides said a much.

The coalition had proposed to knock out a 1949 rule allowing other committees to bypass the rules group after 21 days. Even optimistic administration leaders had not counted on collecting more than 50 GOP votes. They actually got 64. But they lost 85 democratic votes. In short, the southern democratic wing of the coalition delivered its top strength, but their republican support didn't come through.
